Chairman Harrity and Mr. Whitney at Democratic national headquarters listened yes-terday with great satisfaction to encouraging news which was brought them from the South the Northwest, and the Pacific slope. National Committeeman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama brought the news from the South, and was accompanied by A. G. Smith, Chairman of the State Committee, and Congressman John H. Bankhead of the Sixth district.

"There are thousands of white men," said r. Clayton, "Alliance Democrats, who followed Kolb in August, who thought that con-test merely faction fight. When they comprehend that casting their votes for either Weaver or fusion electors will be voting for Harrison and the Force bill they will give their support to the Demogratic nomines.

"Kolb got the support of almost every man with a grievance against the regular Demo-eratic management. But these Democrats will not push their dissatisfaction so far as to hazard the electoral vote of the state by following Kolb against their own party in any fusion with the Republicans. The Democracy of Alabama is in splendid fighting condition, and the leaders on both sides of the late faction fight, except the place hunters who were defeated, are advocating harmony."

Hugh C. Wallace, the son-in-law of Chief Justice Fuller, who is National Committeeman from the State of Washington, was jubilant over the possibility that the four electora votes of his State may be cast for Cleveland and Stevenson.

and Stevenson.

"The Republican party of Washington." said Mr. Wallace, "is split. Scattle has controlled nearly all the offices of consequence, to the great chagrin of the rest of the Republicans of the State. It was promised that the recent Republican Convention would consent to a fair division, but as usual the Scattle ring got control, and the Convention would consent to a fair division, but as usual the Scattle ring got control. and the Convention endorsed an appropriation from Congress for the Scattle Canal. There is open revolt in the State. Leading Republicans and leading Republican papers are bolting. Our nominee comes from a farming community, and is strong with both farmers and workingmen. The Democratic Convention came squarely out against the Scattle Canal. The issues are sharply drawn. There is every reason to believe that the State ticket will be elected on local issues, and it is my belief that the Presidential electors may be carried through."

F. G. Winston, State Committeeman at large of Minnesota, said that if the Democracy can hold its vote of 1890, and there seems to be a fair prospect of its ability to do so, it will carry that State for the Democratic ficket in November, He said that he came to tell the National Committee that Minnesota is a State well worth making an effort to get. The Force bill, he said, would be as much an issue in Minnesota as in the South, as was indicated by the action of Senator Washburn in voting against it. The people revolted at the suggestion of interference with their franchise rights. Senator Washburn knew their temper and acted accordingly in opposition to his party. The Alliance, Mr. Winston reports, is strong and well organized.

Other visitors at headquarters were Gen. W. H. Jackson, R. F. Jackson, and W. H. Washington of Tennessee, Judge John W. Cary of Chicago, Eaton J. Bowles of Bay St. Louis, Miss., Jacob Seabold, ex-Judge Nelson Smith, Assemblyman T. J. McManus, and Co. H. K. Shackelford. "The Republican party of Washington,"

Assemblyman I. S. Boand Mr. Whitney, Shackelford.

Besides Chairman Harrity and Mr. Whitney, the members of the Campaign Committee on duty yesterday were Senators Gorman and Brice, Secretary Sheerin, and B. B. Smalley.

HE HASN'T LOST HIS HEAD,

But Republican Chairman Carter Bays He le Very Sanguine.

Norsinbow-tinted prophecies, such as usually follow close on the visit of distinguished politisians to Chairman Thomas Henry Carter at Republican National Headquarters, have resuited from the visit of Secretary of War Stephen B. Elkins yesterday. Secretary Elkins has been in West Virginia recently directing the Republican campaign in that State. What he thought of the prospects for Republican success he would not say, and Chairman Carter maintained silence on the subject. El-kins is said to be responsible for the large increase of the negro population of West Virginia through colonization of men employed in railroad building.
One reason assigned for Secretary Elkins's disinclination to talk was that he had been disagreeably impressed by his visit, because Chairman Carter had taken occasion to warn him that he must hereafter refrain from interference in New York State politics, as Thomas C. Platt and his friends will run things in the Empire State. Similar nowce has been served on Secretary of the Navy Tracy.

As if to make excuse for Secretary Elkins's failure to answer the statements of Senator Faulkner and other of the Democratic managers in West Virginia, Chairman Carter submitted to an interview himself in which he id that he thought everybody but the Democrats is satisfied with the work his committee has done. Regarding the Bouth, concerning which Mr. Elkins was so silent, Mr. Carter said: "We have had most encouraging reports, but have not lost our heads. Whatever may be done by us there, will be carefully onsidered and will be for the party's best interest.

The Chairman acknowledged that the situation in some of the Western States looked

The Chairman acknowledged that the situation in some of the Western States looked squally for the Republicans a few months ago, but said that at the present time there is every reason for Republican hopefulness. The issues which have taken those States out of the Republican line. Mr. Carter said, are entirely local in character, and when the appeal is made on national issues they will again swing lack into the column.

Mr. Carter devoted himself in his talk to a consideration of the situation in the West and South, and paid no attention to the States of New York, Connecticut, and New Jersey, where his committee propose to make just as vigorous a fight as has been made heretofore, though they do not advertise the fact. While he and his colleagues are talking about the Bouthern States they are going to carry, and the Western States they will prevent the Democracy from carrying, they are doing a great deal of quiet work in the States which held the particular attention of Quay, Clarkson, and Dudley four years ago. One of the States which it is said Carter entertains hope of carrying is New Jersey. The recent conviction and imprisonment of Hudson county election officers by the wholesale and the fact that Jersey City is in Republican hands has encouraged the committee to think that there is a chance of Harrison and Reid's gotting the electoral vote. It is expected that some active work will be done in the southern end of the State by agentleman from Philadelphia who has heretofore ient his abilities in this line to the Republicans of other States. The gentleman in question is Thomas Vermillion Cooper, the red-headed Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, who, four years ago, went into Delaware and holose elect a Republican Legislature, which sent Anthony Higgins to the United States Senate. Mr. Platt and his State Committee are trusted to look after this State, and will be adiv seconded in their sflorts by the National Committeeman four particularly by its Treasurer, Cornelius N. Bliss.

Besides Secretary Elkins, o

Carolina.

Mr. Hahn, having made all of his assignments of speakers for the elections in Maine and Vermont, has gone to his home in Mansfield, Ohio. field, Ohio.

Charles W. Hackett. Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, returned from his vacation in St. Lawrence county and relieved William Brookfield of the management of the State campaign yesterday, and spent the day telling fish stories to his friends. His said that the story that he had gone to visit the President at Loon Lake was untrue.

HOPEFUL DEMOCRATS.

Two Republican Congress Districts in Pens

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.-From present indications there is a strong probability that the Democrats will capture two Congress districts in this State that are usually represented by Republicans—the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-sixth. The latter district comprises the counties of Fayette, Greene, Washington, and portion of Allecheny, and in a straight contest is strongly Republican. The last Republican nominee for Congress from this district was Col. Andrew Stewart of Fayette county. It was his nomination in 1890, over Congressman Ray, who was elected in 1888 and expected a renomination, that has led to the present in-teresting situation in the district, a situation in which the Democrats find good reason for

The Twenty-sixth Congress district as not

In that year, according to agreement, the Republican Congress Convention consisted of ten delecongress convention consisted of ten designates from each county. Each county had a candidate, but Hay of Greene received the nomination. Then the Convention fixed a new basis of representation for the counties of the counties. This was to be one delegate for each follow of the thing of the counties of the district. When the Congress Convention met in 1830 it was found that on the new basis Allegheny was entitled to 18 delegates. Washington to 10, Fayette to 14, and Greene to only 5. This being Congressman Ray's county, he was somewhat hand capped by its small showing of delegates. And the county has been a constitute to 18 delegates. This made constituency was defeated by Farmer Craig, the Democratic candidate. The soreness of Ray and his friends was so great that they had not recovered from it when a conference committee met in April of this year to fix the basis of delegate representation for the district for 1802, and Greene county was not represented. The soreness of ex-Congressman Ray and his friends was increased by the action of that Convention in nominating E.S. Acheson of that Convention in nominating E.S. TRANSCONTINENTAL ASSOCIATION.

Stop the Preific Mail Subaldy.

The Transcontinental Railway Association adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet again at the call of the Chairman. One of the important matters to have been settled at this meeting is left in an uncertain state, and that is the question of import rates in their bearing on domestic traffic Canadian Pacific has decided to act for itself in this matter, and has given notice that on and after Sept. 10 it will apply upon domestic business the same rates they receive as their business the same rates they receive as their propertion of through rates that are charged for transportation of imports.

Should the Canadian Pacific not recede from this position the Chairman will notify all the roads that they may meet the rates of the Canadian Pacific, and will give the Pacific Mail Steamship Company the ninety days' notice required by the contract that the roads in the association will not after the expiration of that time continue the guarantee of $75,000 a month. This guarantee was made in order to keep rates up to the standard, but the railroads argue that it will no longer be to their interest to pay it if they are to meet the cut now threatened.

one of the troubles with which the transconone of the troubles with which the transcontinental lines have had to contend this year has been the eversupply of vessels in the San Francisco harbor. So many of these vessels have been lying there with the hope of getting return loads that they offer to take freight at very low rates. It is the same state of affairs that often occurs on the lakes in the East.
Then, too, the line of clipper ships has taken a great deal of freight on which despatch was not essential.

The Rallway Over the Andes. WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.-According to advices received here, the railway over the Andes between the Argentine Republic and Chili has been so far completed as to justify the steamship companies in Europe selling through ship companies in Europe seining through tickets from Southampten and Liverpool to Valparaise by this route.

The railway contractors, Messrs, Clark, have established a line of carriages across the pass between the termin of the railway and carry pessengers over in two days. The railway journey is thirty-four hours.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 .- Commissioner Simonds of the Patent Office has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1802. The report shows that during the past year there were 45,045 applications for patents and were 40,040 applications for patents and caveata received.

There were 23,026 patents granted, including reissues and designs. Trade marks, 1,563, registered, and six labels registered. Twelve thousand four hundred and twenty-seven natents expired during the year. The receipts during the year amounted to $1,268,727 and the extenditures were $1,114,134, leaving a surplus for the year of $154,563.

Detected in Attempts to Smuggle. Three passengers by the steamship La Touraine of the French line were caught in an attempt to smuggle goods. One was a Mr. J. S. Stern of New York, whose three trunks contained laces, lace curtains, and women's hats, valued at something like $3,000, which he had not declared. In his pockets were found the tickets of Mrs. M. G. Martin of At-lanta, Ga., another passenger, whom he pre-tended not to know. In her trunks Deputy Survey or Collins found an assortment of laces. oves, sliks, and wearing apparel and mate rials. Mr. C. Breining had watches and other jew-elry, which he had failed to declare, and which were discovered by Inspectors Brown and Donchus. The articles were all taken to the seizure room of the Custom house.

MME HYACINTHE IS HERE THE WIFE OF THE APOSTATE PRIEST

COMES AS A MISSIONARY. She Will Try to Interest Americans in the New Catholic Church Founded by Pere Hyacinthe-Rer Son Accompanies Her. Mme. Hyacinthe Loyson, wife of the celebrated Charles Loyson, better known as Père Hyacinthe, arrived in this city yesterday, and is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. She is here in the interest of the work which she and her husband are at present doing in France. Mme. Loyson is a remarkable woman in every sense of the word. In personal appearance she is commanding to a degree. She has a strong though by no means coarse face, bright hazel eves white, strong, even teeth, an agreeable smile a firm chin, a tall, erect figure, and admits with good grace that she is 58 years old. She is a graceful talker, never at a loss for a word. Her voice is silvery, her manner quiet and

A Sun reporter found Mme. Loyson yesterday seated before a great mass of correspon-dence in her rooms at the Fifth Avenue, and perhaps a more severely dressed woman has never been a guest of that fashionable hotel. Her gray-blue gown of soft cashmere was wholly devoid of garniture, save a rather loosely-arranged plastron of the finest black net, which hung in graceful folds, tightened at the waist by a heavy black cord, such as is worn by the Sisters of Mercy. A deep ruffle of sombre black served as a collar, and added to the effect of the tight-fitting sleeve. Her only ornament was a large silver cross, attached to long, black vell, supported by a Spanish comb. served as a head dress.

The life story of Mme. Loyson is a curious one. An American girl, born of Puritan stock.

reared in the Methodist faith, and for many years a communicant of Henry Ward Beecher's church, she became by her persistency and church, she became by her persistency and ability a prominent figure of the Roman Catholic Church, and indeed she was no stranger within the Vatican itself. Mme, Loyson has written many political, social, and religious pampiniets, and in a scrapbook that scarcely ever sees the light of day there are evidences that in her youth she was a bitter opponent of the faith which later in life she embraced and in which she created the most startling schism of the day. Mme, Loyson first married Capt. E. R. Merriam of Ohio. Two children were born of this union, a daughter, who died in early youth, and a son, who is at present an architect in the United States. Several years of her married life were spent in Brooklyn. Mme, Loyson was one of the first women in America to do newspaper work, and continued it long after her marringe with Capt. Merriam. When he died she went abroad, and while in Rome espoused the Roman Catholic faith. She quickly developed into a politician, however, and entered actively into the controversy between the Ultramontaines, or Jansenists, and the Jesuits, taking sides with the Liberal Catholics who rejected such doctrines as the infallibility of the Pope. She was much sought after and had matured the plans for a woman's college at Rome, when there appeared on the scene the broad-shouldered, sweet-voiced Père Hyacinih, who, deepite his priestly avocation, became enamored of the brilliant American, and the affection proved reciprocal. ability a prominent figure of the Roman Cath-priestry avocation, and the affection proved reciprocal.

The priest finally renounced the deep asceticism of the barefooted Carmelite friar, mapped his lingers at the vows which stood in the path of his happiness, and married the woman of his choice. It is hardly necessary to add that the marriage shocked the Catholic world, and the press of Europe was outspoken in its condemation. In all years that have followed their marriage Pere Hyacinthe and his wife have worked together in their self-assumed mission—the retorm of the Catholic Church. Speaking of that mission yesterday, Mme. Loyson said:

The life of nations presents a series of crises whose primary gause is, almost always.

Speaking of that mission yesterday, Mme. Loyson said:

"The life of nations presents a series of crises whose primary cause is, almost always, moral and religious. The crisis which France traverses at present, and which was begun by the Vatican Council and by the war which followed it, is not only solemn—it is tragical. The outrage done to historical truth and to the liberty of conscience by that Gouncil, has not separated us from Papal domination which was never so powerful as at present, and the disasters of that war have not drawn us toward God, who was never so much forgotten and perhaps never so biasphemed. Our great and unlappy nation has become prev to a strange vertigo which throws it alternatively into the arms of atheism to escape ultramontanism to escape atheism. One holds up as a remedy an idol—the other presents blank negation.

"Bear in mind that ours is not a new sect; it is far from Père Hyacinthe's intention to add to the already too numerous divisions of Christians. There should be but one Church, and that should and must be, not the Homan Church, but the one Apostolic Catholic Church, Our Catholic Church has never changed, but the Bloman Church has been slowly but surely changing since long before the Vatican Council of 1870, when it made so many radical changes that Catholicity was perverted. The Pope and the Jesuits became masters of the situation, and we remained steadfast in the laith. We deny the infallibility of the Pope, for the simple reason that the Pope was never heard of until many years after the establishment of our Church—the old Catholic Church is the great republic of soula. Rome deviates from the principles of Catholic Church was founded by St. John, the lies-recognize primacy, but not the papacy. The Catholic Church is the great republic of souls. Rome deviates from the principles of Catholicity, we deviate from the system. The Catholicity, we deviate from the system. The Catholic Church was founded by St. John, the Roman Church by St. Paul.

"My object in visiting America is first to see the home, the friends, and the scenes of my childhood, in the hope of regalning my lost health, but while here I expect to accept the invitations already received to give drawing-room entertainments, in order that our friends may learn the real truth about our religion, which is an old religion taught by a new method—a method of love. At the same time, I expect to appeal to our friends for help, that the good work may go on uniaterrupted. Our marvelous success may be estimated when I say that out of thirty-four millions of Catholics in France only two millions are in reality Roman Catholics. The thirty-two millions are not infide; they are not Protestants; they belong to our Church, save in this—that when dying they invariably call in a Homish priest that they may obtain Christian burial thereby; but in time we hope to eradicate this superatition. The priests and Bishops are perfectly legal, as much so as are those of the Homan Church, but by reason of their doubting the infallibility of the Pope they are regularly and promptly excommunicated by the Pope of liome.

"The National Society for the Evangeliza-promptly excommunicated by the Pope of Rome.

"The 'National Society for the Evangelization of France, originated by the good Pereduring the last Lenten season, already includes the uninisters of the Lutheran, Presbyterian, Methodist, Reformed, and Catholic not Roman) churches of France. Now you have the history of our Church, the old Catholic Church of France, in a mitshell."

Mme. Loyson is suffering from an injury to her foot, which she sustained on the voyage over, having been thrown from her berth during a storm. It is of a sufficiently serious mature to detain her hero several days longer than she intended. She is accompanied by her son Faul, who is now 18 years old, and together they will journey westward when Mme. Loyson is well enough to proceed.

Foreciosure Sale at Tuxedo Park.

NEWBURGH, Aug. 27.-The first foreclosur. sale of a Tuxedo Park cottage will take place on Oct. 21 at the Tuxedo Town Hall. In No vember, 1885, Pierre Lorillard conveyed to Helen Chauncey Cryder by leasehold property in the park, and it was mortgaged for $16,000. This seems to be held now by Eva I. Kipp, and William Van Amee of Middelown has been appointed referee in the forestosure suit to sell the cuttage. The costs will run the amountur to about $17,000.

IT WILL BE A YEAR OF WINE MAKING. After 15 Years of Fallure the Vines at Egg

Eog HARBOR CITY, Aug. 27.-The grape crop at this place, which for many years past has been ruined by a disease known as the black rot, will this season be the largest for fifteen years. It will be far ahead of the yield in former years when much wine was made and Egg Harbor City became famous all over the country for its superior viniage. For several years past the black rot prevailed in its worst form, and every remedy known was tried with little or no success. Manufacturers who had made thousands of gallons of wine each year became discouraged and allowed their im mense vaults and cellars to go to ruin. The experience of those years of crop failure prove to the grape growers that the mischief was in most cases due to the ravages of minute insects which infected the vines. Dr. Theodore H. Boysen, ex-Mayor of the city, has recently experimented so successfully with a new remedy that this year it is believed the black rot will finally be eradicated believed the black rot will finally be eradicated and Egg Harbor City will once more attain the reputation of being one of the largest wine-making cities in the United States. Grape growers are making extensive preparations to harvest the crop, and a large force of men are at work building great vaults and cellars in which to place the wine. Three immense yaults have already been built, and others are sast being completed. It is estimated by the growers that 275,000 gallons of wine will be made this year. Most of this vintage will be placed in vaults until it is a year or more old, when it will be sold and will command high prices. All the grapes grown here are converted into wine. The large winemakers of Egg Harbor City make thousands of gallons of wine. One manufacturer alone will have over 75,000 gallons this year.
